

QAR Story

The morning got off to a bad start when David turned off his alarm clock, rolled over, and went back to sleep. He barely made the bus and he had to sit next to Jennifer. When David got to school, he realized that he had forgotten his lunch money and his homework. He borrowed lunch money from Jennifer and he had to do his homework over again during the lunch recess. The long day finally ended and David boarded the bus to go home.

“One down, four to go,” he thought as the bus slowly made its way to his street.

Skinny Questions (One or two word answers)

- Whom did David sit next to on the bus?
- What two important things had David forgotten?
- What were the other children doing while David did his homework?
- On which day of the week did this story take place?

Fat Questions

- What do you think David do when the alarm goes off on Tuesday morning?
- How might David describe the day he had?
- If David doesn't want to be late again, what might he do?
- Why did the author describe it as a long day?