

The Good, the Bad, and the Useless

A Middle School Lesson

Bibliography of Useful Websites

Five criteria for evaluating Web pages. May 17, 2002. <<http://library.cornell.edu/okuref/webcrit.html>>.

Introduces the meanings and importance of Accuracy, Authority, Objectivity, Currency, and Coverage as related to evaluation of websites.

Evaluating Web Resources <<http://www2.widener.edu/Wolfgram-Memorial-Library/webevaluation/webeval.htm/>>.

Provide materials to assist in teaching how to evaluate the informational content of Web resources. Provide a bibliography of materials on applying critical thinking techniques to Web resources.

QUICK. The QUality Information ChecKlist. May 15, 2002. <<http://www.quick.org.uk/menu.htm>>.

Excellent Check Sheet that students can use to evaluate their websites by directing students in evaluation through a list of scripted lesson.

Schrock, Kathleen. Critical Evaluation Survey: Middle School Level. 1 June 1995. May 15, 2002. <<http://discoveryschool.com/schrockguide/evalmidd.htm>>.

Excellent Check Sheet that students can use to evaluate their websites by directing students in evaluation through a list of scripted lesson.